And so ...

~ Greetings

We meet again. A lot of you are experiencing so-called turmoil – this is good! Your interests are varied and most of you are running before you can walk. Live your earth-journey to the full. It is so important. We have told you to look after yourselves, after your planet. A lot of you are observing the, what you would call, heavens and the stars. That is good but do not ask too many questions; ask what you would integrate for there are many possibilities for each of you.

That might be difficult to understand; nothing is carved in stone, each of you is living your own story. So, for you who are a little bit more inquisitive than others you will be able to delve a little bit more into your own adventures and stories and some of you will even plan how your story will go on after you have reached our side. Some of you have been told to imagine where you would land on our side. We encourage you to imagine a future time on your planet. For you can project your consciousness into the future. It will take a little practice.

At this point in time, most of you are excited about what is going to happen - unfortunately for you, there will be no big bang. There will be and there are subtle changes at this point in time and you will feel these changes if you are a little sensitive - you will feel this in your day-to-day existence - slight physical changes, slight forgetfulness, slight what you would call mood swings – but always look forward. It is important for your physicality is so closely, if we can say, related to your planet that some of you might feel the shifts taking place. You all know that the magnetic field of your planet is slightly out of kilter and changing, so don't be surprised that you also will feel out of sorts. Yes, there will be enormous changes – nothing to fear. Some of them might be uncomfortable – what will happen is that you will get a wider view for most of you are still walking with blinkers - you do not see the whole picture - and it will be good.

~ 1 ~

As you know, you are coming and you are already at the end of a cycle. You who do calculate in years you do have it slightly wrong. We would say, yes – you have your date and that is very nice because your collective consciousness will push things along but you are already in the centre of change since quite a time.

You will not be enlightened straight away. You will become more sensitive – not all of you - but accept this with joy and as an exercise, we reiterate – imagine what you would like to do on your next journey! For those of you who have decided never to come back on your planet there might be a big disappointment in store – you probably will smile at yourselves – but the universe is bigger than your planet – never forget that. Again, use your creativity, for using your creativity will create this joy, this music, and this heightening of your vibrations.

Of course, as always, we would suggest you connect to your planet, to nature and observe. Observe your fellow travellers, observe nature, observe each other and as we suggest – be at peace, full of joy. It is important to have, what we would call, gatherings, and in those gathering heighten your vibrations, send out light, send out compassion for the power of your minds is immense and will shift and is able to shift darkness more than you could ever imagine. And those of you who come to part of our side during this sleep state, practice remembering what you have seen and where you have been it will heighten you abilities.

The main thing is to live your existence without fear, for fear holds you, ties you, and binds you. It is important for you to live your planetary existence without fear in freedom of expression. That does not mean for those who can't express themselves to shout from the rooftops – “I am free” – no, it means knowing they are free.

It also means integrating your knowledge and understanding what you are being told since there are many, many ways to where we reside. Each of you will have their own truth and that is important; so when you hear a story, which does not totally resonate smile and feel - this might not be my path - for in our spheres as was told, not only by who you call the Nazarene – by many others – in our spheres there are many mansions. As long as you follow your direction knowing you are on track, it will be all right.
